GCD WEBSITE

Conference Material Available

GCD Conferences are a great way to share experiences, connect with peers, and find out what is trending in your network.

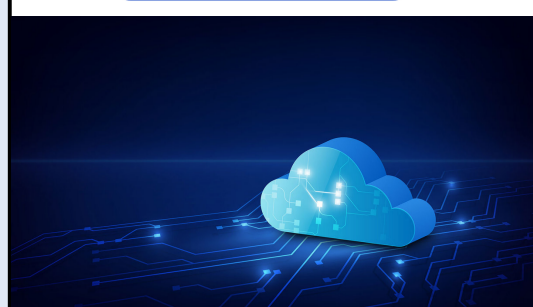

GCD hosted the second online conference in North America with an action-packed agenda.

If you missed this event, the conference material is available now!

Climate Risk: GCD's Contribution

Following the kick-off webinar from 14 October, the GCD initiative on Climate risk moves to action phase and proposes to reconvene for decisions on climate data sharing, on 29th of November.

Cloud Migration: November 2021

Delivering on the technical roadmap, GCD and its data agent successfully proceeded to the moving of all data operations on a cloud-based infrastructure. This important milestone is allowing to match with the current technical landscape and members requirements for improved data integrity. Ultimately this innovation will also improve users' data experience pre- and post-submission, and extend the usage of GCD data.
